$500 REWARD.
Whereas, certain evil disposed parties have made and caused to be circulated, certain false and malicious reports, to the effect, to-wit: "That the Liquors made at Charlotte, N. C., by Groot, Kuck & Co. are not pure and unadulterated Copper-distilled Whiskies."
Now, therefore, we, the undersigned, hereby offer a reward of $500 for evidence sufficient to convict any responsible party, or parties, making said remarks. Also, will pay the above amount to any party, or parties, who will produce proof of any Liquor distilled by them, containing any Drugs, or Materials, other than grain. Would also call attention to certificate of Chemist, annexed, as to the purity of our Liquors.
Charlotte, N. C., July 1st, 1869.
Messrs. Groot, Kuck & Co.
Gentlemen: I have made thorough analysis of all the Liquors made at your distillery, and find them perfectly pure, and free from all adulterations.

NOTICE.
We hereby notify the public that, from and after this date, we employ no agents for the sale of Gregory's Dyspeptic Mixture.
Neither are there any interested parties with us. We are the inventors, sole proprietors, and only manufacturers of the genuine articles, and our individual signatures accompany each bottle—and all orders and remittances must be made to Dr. W. W. & R. K. GREGORY, at Charlotte, N. C.
In assuming the entire charge of this valuable remedy, we present it to you in a new dress, and have reduced the price to $1.50 per bottle, to bring it within the reach of all. In the pamphlet which accompanies each bottle will be seen the certificates of the most distinguished physicians, judges and divines, who state, and we only ask for its trial, that dyspepsia may be convinced of its curative virtues.
A liberal discount to the trade.

LARGE DIVIDEND OF INSURANCE.
The Piedmont Life Insurance Company, of Virginia, has DECLARED A DIVIDEND OF FORTY PER CENT.
on its Life Policies, which have paid two annual premiums, and the same is available on each policy at next renewal to absorb loans, or reduce cash payments.
The dividend could have safely been larger, but with the PRUDENCE AND CAUTION
which has ever guided this company, it has deemed it proper to hold a surplus beyond the reserve fund.
The company is now only in the eighteenth month of its active operation—yet
HAS ISSUED 3,000 POLICIES which is a success really remarkable, and far ahead of any company of like period in America or Europe; while its handsome dividend shows the economy of its administration, and the

R. F. WARRING, Editor.

CHARLOTTE.

Monday, September 18, 1869.

On to-morrow, the County Convention will meet in this city to nominate a candidate for the Senate, to supply the place made vacant by the death of the late Judge Osborne. While it may not be possible under the present restrictions to nominate a gentleman of as mature statesmanship, acknowledged ability and of as lofty eloquence as the late distinguished member, the convention need find no difficulty in presenting to the voters a gentleman of tried principles, good sense, sound judgment, and high integrity. The main point, is to present a candidate who can call out the full Conservative vote, and thus secure his election, and secondly, one who will use all his influence to check extravagant appropriations of the public money, fearlessly expose corruption in high places, and as a faithful sentinel warn the people of all dangers to their liberty by reason of the corruption, and severity of these now in power. Something must be done to relieve the Treasury of the harpies that now prey upon it, and we must have an able and incorruptible Senator, who will expose the "ring" and inaugurate measures of reform which, if they cannot be carried out now, can be ventilated in time for the next election. Our Senator must be known to be in favor of a new election of members of the Legislature next summer, and work for that end.

There are a number of gentlemen in this large and intelligent county who can fill all the requirements here laid down, and we have confidence that the Convention will free itself from all local and personal predilections and bring out just the man the occasion requires.—AND HE WILL BE ELECTED.

The negro question, says the Louisville Courier, will not long give the Southern States any serious practical trouble. If the negroes remain where they are, they will soon, by all the laws of nature, pass under the moral and political control of the white race, and, if they go away, that will be the last of them. Whether they stay or go, they will in a few years be very inconspicuous in numbers and next to nothing in influence. They are rapidly approaching extinction. Had their ears been prophetic, they might have heard, in the sound of the Lincoln proclamation, the solemn undertone of a mighty death-bell.

LARGE ARRIVAL OF SNAKES AND MONKEYS.—On Saturday afternoon the bark Zingarella, Captain Shaw, arrived at this port from Bisan, on the west coast of Africa. The bulk of her cargo consisted of hides and peanuts, but, by way of variety, she also brought five Loa-constrictors and four large dog-faced monkeys. The largest of the serpents is twenty-eight feet long, is of immense girth, and weighs nine hundred and odd pounds. On its arrival it had not eaten for six weeks. Its meal at that time consisted of twelve small cats and a good-sized dog, which it disposed of in the course of a night. On Saturday night, showing signs of hunger, a live cat was given to it, which it speedily crushed and swallowed. A second live cat still remains in the cage. The wretched animal evinces extreme terror at the presence of its deadly foe. This is the largest serpent ever brought to this country. It is immensely powerful, as the effects of climate have hardly yet lessened its natural vigor. The other serpents range from eighteen to twenty-three feet in length. The reptiles were taken to the yard of a boarding house at 12 North Square, where they have since been inspected by large numbers of persons. It is expected that they will soon be purchased by some menagerie proprietors.—Boston Advertiser.

A telegram from Washington to the Baltimore Sun says: It is a remarkable fact, and one which attracts more than ordinary attention in diplomatic circles, that all the available vessels, officers and crews of our navy, are now under orders to sail at a moment's notice. The popular solution of this strange circumstance is that our government prepared itself for active demonstration regarding Cuban affairs, if the result of the pending negotiations with Spain on that subject should require it.

General Meade is in favor of Packer for Governor of Pennsylvania.

For the Times.
NEAR JEFFERSON, TEXAS,
Camp Black Boyon, Aug. 28 '69.

EDITOR TIMES:—Dear Sir:—Thinking perhaps that my friends would like to hear something of a Railroad that is considered of great importance to the South, I have concluded to write you this letter. In fact, no enterprise on the continent outranks this in interest and importance. None promises to be of more lasting benefit to Texas. The friends of this Railroad Company are very much pleased at the prospect of an early and vigorous prosecution of it. The intelligence from abroad is cheering. On the Jefferson branch of the road (of which I am connected) there are about eight miles graded, which is being put in order, and other work being done. About one hundred hands are now on the road, and more arriving daily.—Bids for grading of road-bed, clearing, grubbing, building of trestle work, bridges, culverts, &c., are now being received, (that is for the Jefferson branch). We have just made a survey to the Sulphur. This river has not been within its banks for eight years, and every year rises higher.—Rafts below, which causes this overflow, to a great extent, extends for nearly forty miles, and still increasing. Being but an assistant on this road, and in the field all the time, of course I know but little, therefore cannot go into full details. But my heart and soul is bent upon the completion of this great enterprise, which I believe to be of such great importance to the whole South. And we all hope it will be pushed forward with an energy equal to its great merits. It will be the means of ramifying Northern Texas with railroads, and connecting Jefferson with the great cities of the West. This little city is certainly one of the most thriving business places in the country. And merchants say that the trade of the approaching season promises to be the largest ever known here. The first bale of new cotton was sold last week, to Messrs. Baleman & Co., for 35 cents, in specie.

Col. F. Gardner is in charge of my party, and is one of the most industrious, energetic, go-ahead men of the road. As to his business capacities I cannot say too much. He is well known by most of our citizens (of Charlotte). We are all getting along swimmingly. Wild game abundant. Our table is daily supplied with Deer, Turkey, &c.

Speaking with a railroad man some days ago, I learned from him that just on the borders of our State (North Carolina) some forty miles east of Chattanooga, in a straight line are the celebrated Ducktown copper mines. The outlet of these mines is Cleveland, forty miles, by road, from the mines, and 26 miles Northeast of Chattanooga, on the East Tennessee and Georgia Railroad, and it has long been, I think, in contemplation to build a railroad from Charlotte to Ducktown. As you know it was originally intended to build the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherfordton road to this mining region; and looking at the project from this point, and with some practical knowledge of the movements on the side of the Mississippi Valley, towards the ports of the Atlantic, one is profoundly impressed with the wisdom of the North Carolina enterprise, and regret more and more, every day, that it was not pushed to completion long since, at any cost. And now as Mr. B. S. Guion, that able, energetic and efficient man is at the head of the W. C. & R. R. as Superintendent and Chief Engineer, we can readily say, the right man in the right place.

If this road should be built, it would be by far the shortest route from Nashville to the Atlantic, and one of the most important avenues for trade and freight in the United States. It would bring to Wilmington, not merely the ores of Ducktown, but the vast productions of Tennessee and adjoining States. We trust Old North Carolina will not abandon this great undertaking. The South will yet rise like a bright star. I trust that the angel of happiness may once more spread her wings all radiant with feathers of gold, and the star of Hope throw its silvery light on our SUNNY SOUTH.

Very respectfully yours, &c.
J. G. Y.

"Do you call this a trunk?" growled a dejected porter. "It only needs a lightning-rod to be mistaken for a boarding house."

Washington Letter.
[Correspondence of the Baltimore Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9, 1869.

You will receive from other sources sufficiently extended accounts of the funeral pageant of today. The absence of the Secretary of the Treasury was looked upon as mysterious. Quid nunc assign different notions. I shall not attempt a solution.

Now that this business is over, the struggle for the place lately held by Mr. Hawley will commence in earnest. My information is that General Grant yet refuses to entertain any suggestions, and that he will not make a selection during his present trip to the metropolis.

The mentor of the President was scarcely cold when (if we are to believe his organ) he began mischievously to blab his crude opinions about matters of the greatest moment. Let the Jenkinses rejoice! They have now a fair field for interviews. The following specimen (published by authority) is alarming:

"President Grant, in a recent conversation, expressed the opinion that Judge Dent would not be nominated in Mississippi. He was severe in condemnation of the entire so-called Conservative movement, not only in Mississippi, but in Texas, and disavowed all sympathy with those engaged in it, as well as with their views of objects. The President hopes that Davis will be elected in Texas. He has information to the effect that large numbers of the Republicans who were at first inclined to support Hamilton, are falling away from that gentleman, and will support his opponent, Mr. Davis."

It is also said that his Excellency spoke yesterday very flippantly of the Cuban imbroglio. It, however, comprehends no more of the negotiations entrusted to Sickles by Mr. Fish than he is shown above to know of Mississippi and Texas politics (Dent is already nominated) what he is reported to have intimated about "recognizing" the Cuban "patriots," in case we fail in the purchase of the Island, need not disturb the nerves of the Government creditors. But there are many sagacious men here who fear the exigencies of the Radical party may induce the leaders to resort to extreme measures in this regard.

The Radicals are in great straits to patch up a "ratification" of the "Fifteenth Amendment." It is now reduced to a certainty that it cannot be "ratified," even by the coercion of the votes of the three unrepresented States, without recognizing the validity of the Indiana act of ratification. Acts of repeal by other States must also be disregarded. It is not to be presumed that the Supreme Court of the country would look upon the "Amendment," thus forced through, as at all binding.

A private letter received here today (written before the death of Senator Fessenden, but in anticipation of that event) speaks of the now certain election of Speaker Blaine to the Senate for the term commencing in March, 1871. I have heard no suggestion as to Mr. Fessenden's immediate successor.

Absenteeism from the seat of Government of public officers is no longer justified upon the plea of the necessity for relaxation from "arduous duties." The flimsy excuse, now considered unnecessary, answered its purpose to lull anticipated complaints. The public have been "educated" gradually to the point of admitting that officials may do as they please, neglect their sworn duties in any and every way, if they only observe their fealty to party. It is now shamelessly announced that Hon. John Allison, Register of the Treasury, and Hon. Columbus Delano, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, have accepted an invitation extended by the State Executive Republican Committee, of Philadelphia, and they will stump the State of Pennsylvania in compliance therewith during the latter part of the campaign. These gentlemen fill two of the most important bureaus of the Government. To "stump" so large a State as that of Pennsylvania, one would suppose, would require much "valuable time." These officers are said to have been appointed on account of their peculiar fitness. No others, it was boasted, could possibly discharge such herculean labors. Yet it seems others do discharge them; for they have not been at their posts one-half of the time since their appointment.

I learn that the President will leave the city at once.

PRINCE ARTHUR.—A private letter to a gentleman in this city from a friend in Canada says that Prince Arthur, moved by the expressions of a good-will and friendship which the American newspapers have been pleased to utter, has resolved upon paying us a visit in the course of the winter. This intelligence, if true, will be welcomed by thousands in our fashionable world, who satiated with the vanities of the watering-places, are in search of new vanities with a fresh flavor. The apparition of a live prince, and one so likely to prove popular as the third son of Victoria, is just that particular sort of vanity needed to revive the languishing taste of fashionable Gotham. By all means let him come.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A clandestine marriage took place in New York on Thursday which has occasioned considerable excitement in fashionable circles. The names of the parties are suppressed, but it is known that the bride was the daughter of a wealthy Wall street broker, and the bridegroom a young bachelor, who, although rich, was extremely obnoxious to the young lady's father, who had peremptorily ordered the modern Romeo to abandon forever his visits to Juliet. As the only escape from such tyranny a clandestine marriage was decided upon. The family of the bride is spending the summer at a fashionable resort on the banks of the Hudson, and a few days ago the daughter announced her intention of visiting some friends on Murray Hill. Her real purpose in visiting the city, however, was to make some necessary preparations for her wedding, and that ceremony was performed on Thursday noon at the residence of the bridegroom's lawyer, on Fifth avenue. The Sun describes the dress of the obedient pair as follows:

The fair bride was beautifully attired in a rich gray and black silk travelling suit, made short, with double skirts, and loped up at the sides and back with bows of the same material, en panier. She wore a neat little cloth saque embroidered in elegant style, and a jaunty little jockey hat ornamented with an aigrette crowned her pretty little head. The bridegroom was dressed in a full English travelling costume, white Oxford hat, light gloves, and he had a natty little cane in his hand."

Cotton.
We have taken occasion, several times recently, to urge upon cotton planters the impolicy of rushing the present crop to market. Here at the South where we are all well acquainted with the true condition of the incoming crop, the increase of receipts during the month of September—the effect of the long continued drought and the universal prevalence of rust—Planters and Southern cotton dealers understand that rust and drought forces the premature opening of the bolls and that full September receipts when these influences have been felt would not necessarily indicate a large crop.

At the North and in the European markets these things are not so well understood. Large receipts in the first weeks of the season indicate to them a full, if not a large crop. They pay very little attention to the reports which go out from the South of short crops, if along with these reports they find a large increase in the receipts in the different markets. No sort of reasoning and no amount of argument can convince them that the crop is likely to be short when they see the receipts daily augmenting and increasing.

In order that the true condition of the present crop might be fairly impressed upon Northern and European buyers we have urged our planting friends not to send their crops forward as fast as the cotton opened, but to devote the whole of their attention and labor to saving it in good order. We knew if the cotton came forward very freely this month that an attempt would be made—and we feared successfully made—to depress prices under the specious plea of a full crop.—We knew that Southern speculators would aid in getting this feeling abroad in order that they might buy at low prices, and then, when the real extent of the crop was realized, sell at a great advance. By this means the planters would be cheated out of several millions of dollars, all of which would go into buyers' pockets as profits.

Yet, strange to say, the cotton planters are to-day, throughout the entire South, playing into the hands of the speculators by rushing their crops. To prove this we find that from the 1st to the 5th of September, inclusive, in 1868, the receipts of cotton at all the ports were 999 bales. For the same period this year the receipts were 1,489 bales, or an increase of fifty per cent. over last year's receipts.

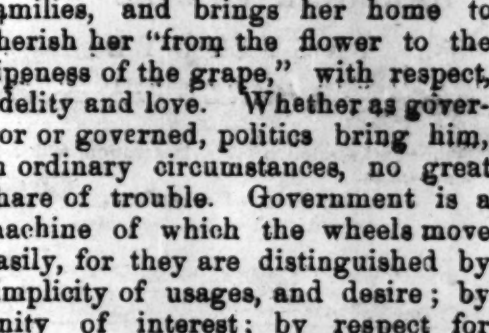

From these data it will be argued that the present crop is larger by fifty per cent. than that of 1868, when in fact it will not in any possible event reach last year's figures. If planters, then, sell their crops for twenty-five cents, or even below that price, they will have nobody to blame for it but themselves. If they growl and complain that prices go up to thirty-five or forty cents after they have sold, they will have the consolation of knowing that by their own folly they have secured fortunes for the speculators to their own immediate injury.

Again we invite our planting friends to take a sensible business-like view of the situation—weigh well the facts we have stated and then act as their best judgments dictate.—Augusta Chronicle.

Greek Life in Heret Age.

The following is from Mr. Gladstone's recent work Juvenis Mundi: The youth of high birth, not then so widely as now separated from the low, is educated under tutors in reverence for his parents, and in desire to emulate their fame; he shares in manly and graceful sports, acquires the use of arms, hardens himself in the pursuits, then of all other the most indispensable, the hunting down of wild beasts; gains the knowledge of medicine; probably also of the lyre. Sometimes, with many sided intelligence, he even seats himself to learn how to build his own house or ship, or how to drive the plow down the furrow as well as to reap the standing corn; and when scarcely a man he bears arms for his country or his tribe, takes part in its government; learns, by direct instruction and practice, how to rule mankind through the use of reasoning and persuasive powers in political assemblies, attends to assist in sacrifices to the gods. For all this time he has been in kindly and free relations, not only with his parents, his family, his equals of his own age, but with the attendants, although they are but serfs, who have known him from infancy on his father's domain.

His early youth is not solicited into by finding sensual excess in vogue, or the opportunities of it glaring in his eyes and sounding in his ear. Gluttony is hardly known; drunkenness is marked only by its degrading character and the evil consequences that flow so straight from it, and it is abhorred. But he loves the genial use of meals, and rejoices in the hour when the guests gather in his father's hall to enjoy a liberal hospitality, and the wine mingles in the cup. For then they listen to the lay of the minstrel who celebrates before them the newest and dearest of the heroic tales that stir their blood and rouse their country's heroes. He joins the dance in the festivals of religion; the maiden's hand upon his wrist, and the gilded knife gleaming from his belt, as they course from point to point or wheel round on round. That maiden, some Nausicaa or some Hermione of a neighboring district, in due time he wed amidst the rejoicings of their families, and brings her home to cherish her "from the flower to the ripeness of the grape," with respect, fidelity and love. Whether as governor or governed, politics bring him, in ordinary circumstances, no great share of trouble. Government is a machine of which the wheels move easily, for they are distinguished by simplicity of usages, and desire; by unity of interest; by respect for authority, and for those in whose hands it is reposed; by love of the common country, the common altar, the common festivals and games, to which already there is large resort. In peace he settles the disputes of the people; in war he lends them the precious example of heroic daring. He consults them, and advises with them on all grave affairs; and his watchful care for their interest is rewarded by the ample domains which are set apart for the prince by the people. Finally he closes his eyes, delivering over the sceptre to his sons, and leaving much peace and happiness around him.

At this season, when coughs and colds are so prevalent, an effective remedy, and one easily obtained, is Pain Killer. It is a new nostrum, vended by unknown agents, but has stood the test of over twenty years; and those who use the article internally or externally will connect with it grateful recollections of its worthy inventor.—Hastings Chronicle, C. W.

PAIN KILLER.—The testimonials borne to the efficacy of this valuable medicine are sufficient to warrant its introduction into every house. Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, scalds, pains, sores, &c., it is the most effective remedy we know of. A bottle will last for a very long time, and its low price places it within the reach of all. Our readers will remember that the Messrs. Perry Davis & Son have opened a house in Montreal, whence Canadian orders are supplied. New, St. John's, C. E.

We are glad to learn that the Pain Killer is having so large a sale in our city. We have every reason to believe it to be an almost never failing cure for pain, and a medicine that no family should be without. Montreal Pilot.

DATTS' PAIN KILLER.—From the reports of dealers in this city, we think no proprietary medicine has had a larger sale. Its valuable properties, as a speedy cure for pain, cannot fail to be generally appreciated, and no family should be without it, in case of accident, or sudden attack of dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera morbus, and even Asiatic cholera, yields to its magic power, as we see by reports from those sections in the south-west where the disease has been particularly virulent the past summer.—Montreal Pilot.

NOTICE.
By virtue of a Decree of Trust made to me by Albert Wallace, on the 1st day of November, A. D. 1868, and duly recorded and registered, I shall sell at the Court House in Charlotte, on Monday the 18th of October next, for Cash, to the highest bidder, all the real estate conveyed to me by said Decree, consisting of about Two Hundred and Fifty-six Acres of Land, adjoining the lands of Wm. C. Morris, James M. Davis, Samuel Morrison and others, lying on Sandy Creek 9 miles North East of Charlotte. This tract is known as a part of the James M. Blunk tract of Land. The land is of good quality and is well adapted to the production of Cotton, and Wheat, and Corn. It is well improved, and has a good Mill Seat upon it. WM. MCCORMERS, Trustee.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Fever and Ague Season.

When the leaves begin to change, remittent and intermittent fevers make their appearance. From the surface of the earth, bathed nightly in heavy dews, from marshes and swamps surcharged with moisture, from the dying foliage of the woods, from staling pools and sluggish streams, the sun of September evolves clouds of miasmatic vapor, perilous to health and life. The body, deprived by the burning temperature of July and August of much of its vigor and elasticity, is not in a proper plight to resist malaria; and hence all diseases that are produced by a depraved condition of the atmosphere are particularly prevalent in the Fall.

There is no reason why the health of thousands of people should be thus sacrificed. A preparatory course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is a certain protection against the epidemics and endemic which Autumn brings in its train. Let all dwellers in unhealthy localities, liable to such visitations, give heed to the warning and advice conveyed in his advertisement, and they may bid defiance to the foul exhalations which are now rising, night and day, from the soil around them. No farmhouse in the land should be without this invaluable exhibition and invigorant at any period of the year, but especially in the Fall. It is not safe to go forth into the chill, misty atmosphere of a September morning or evening with the stomach unfortified by a tonic, and of all the tonics which medical chemistry has yet given to the world, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are admitted to be the purest, the most wholesome, and the most beneficial.

I let all who desire to escape the bilious attacks, bowel complaints and malarious fevers, take the BITTERS at least twice a day throughout the present season. It is as wholesome as it is infallible. Look to the trade-mark, "HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS," engraved on the label and embossed on the bottle, and their revenue stamp covering the cork, as counterfeits and imitations abound.

PATENT BALTIMORE PARLOR HEATERS AND GAS BURNERS,
for Anthracite or Bituminous coal, have been in successful operation for the last ten years, and have proved to be the best fire-place heaters manufactured and put in operation. They are getting to be generally used, often in the place of furnaces,
for heating the lower and upper rooms in dwellings and offices. Two or three stoves heating the largest dwellings, and heating all the cold, drafty, and cheerfulness of an open grate fire, but are more economical, clean, and healthy. We can refer to thousands of families who have them in use.
We manufacture our own COOKING STOVES, and guarantee them to be equal to any sold for baking and cooking. We have stoves to take in long wood and with large ovens, and are superior stoves for baking and cooking. They will have a beautiful fire, and will stand among the No. 1 Cook Stoves.
Our Cooking Stoves are Baltimore made, and we guarantee the plates. Our Cooking Ranges are superior to any made in a brick oven. We will manufacture S. B. SEXTON'S new patent Hot-Air Furnaces, warranted to burn from 30 to 70 hours with one filling.
Thankful to our friends and the public for their past favors, we solicit a continuance of their patronage.
